Introduction

A Healing of the Chakras

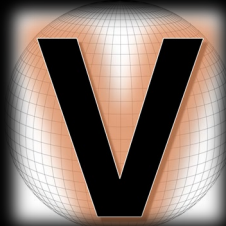

Part 1

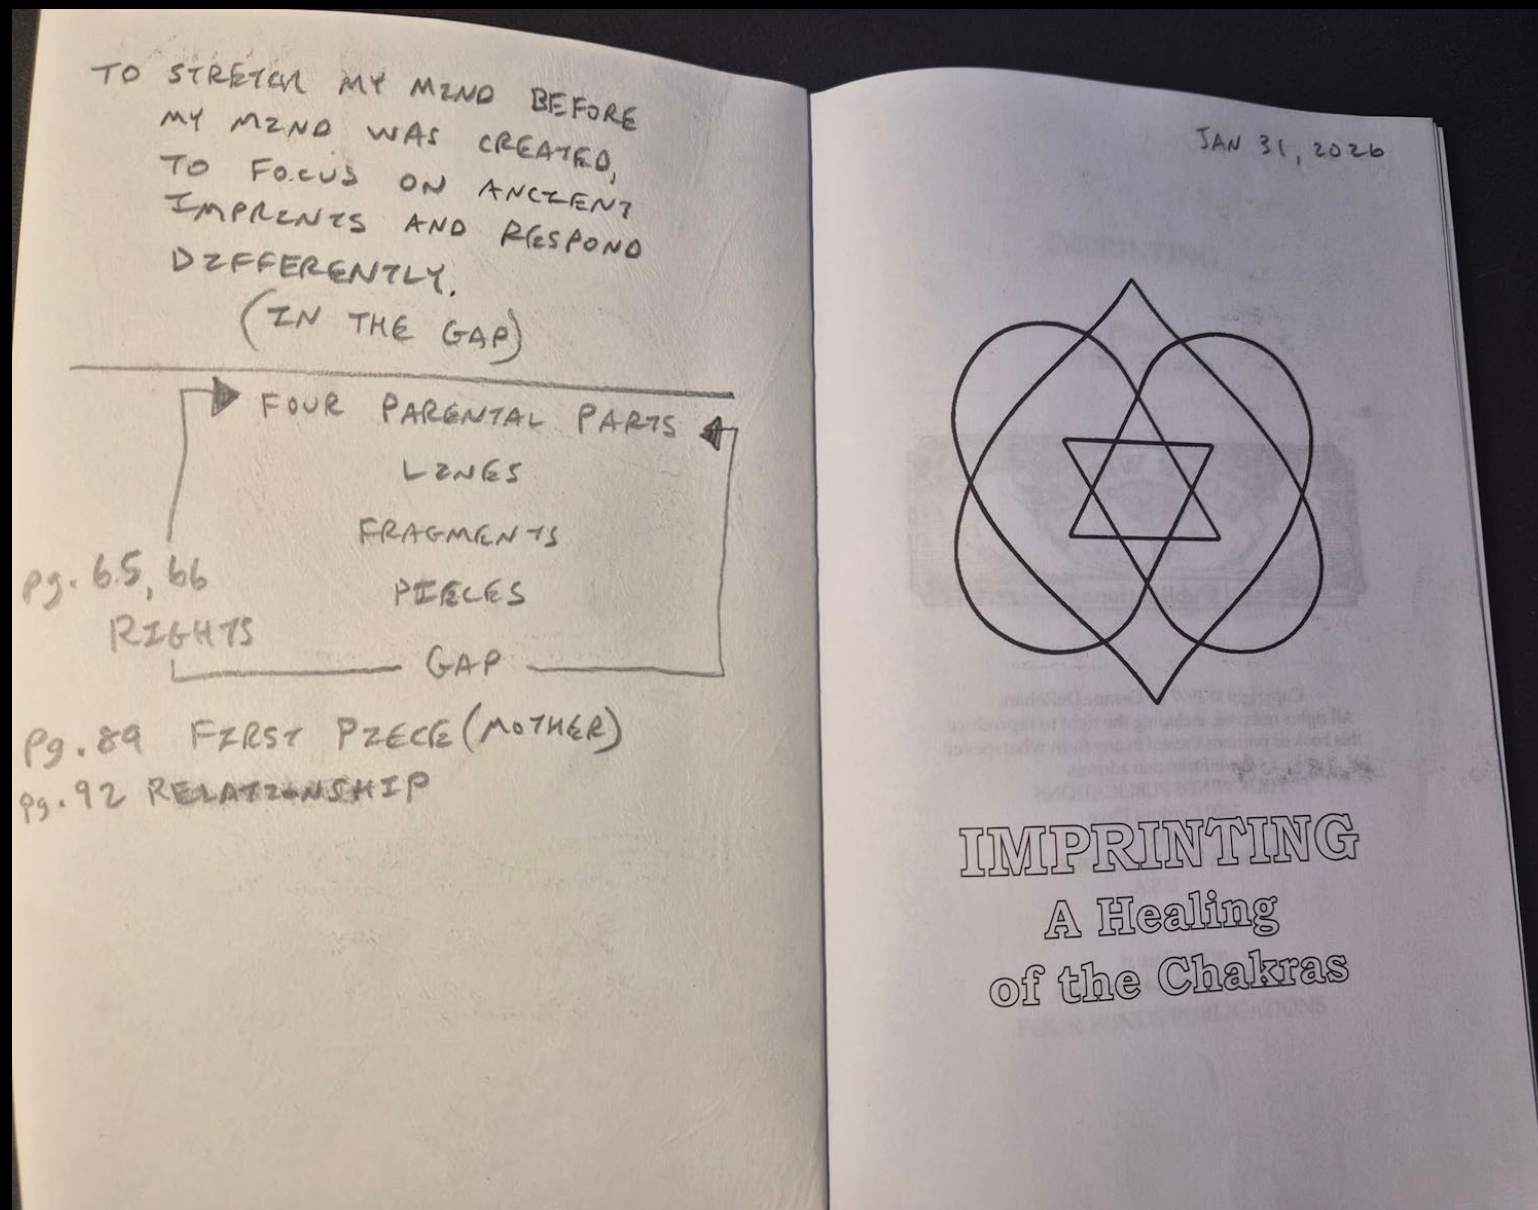

“We are unconscious
Creators pretending to be conscious Creators.”

- In the beginning, I had reverie without feeling I had to do anything.
- My own process, My own awareness, My own thoughts and images.
- We were not loving in the beginning.
- We had no concept of relativity.

- The concept of Mother (darkness).
- The original Spirit/Body split was created.
- Differing viewpoints.
- The Gap = what is in it and how to heal it.
- Consciousness was never able to overcome imprinting no matter how hard it tried.

- In the beginning, We did not recognize the Will.
- The Will developed a misinterpretation.
- The Will (Mother of Everything) saw Spirit/Body as defining Ourselves as positive and Her as negative.
- A Gap was created with the Will by not recognizing Her real role.

Before there was Will presence to hold anything present this was a major problem of Ours, yet when the Will came, We did not recognize it as anything helpful. We noticed only how the Will seemed to hold present that which We did not want to have held present and did not notice the rest, because We thought We were doing that Ourselves, already.

This lack of recognition for the Will gave Her a misinterpretation of Our presence. She thought that We were unloving toward Her and loving toward Ourselves, and recognized Her as causing only the things We did not like and Ourselves as causing only the things We did like. Thus, She saw Us as defining Ourselves as positive and Her as negative; Ourselves as good, Her as bad, in other words.

She did not like this, and neither did We, as it turned out, but We did not notice this for a long time. We thought We liked this because it gave Us someone to blame for Our own denials, and blame Her We did, for everything that went even barely, imperceptibly wrong.

BLAME

Blame was there from the beginning. We did not consider it blame or even that We were being unfair. We thought We were so right. Even though it was held undercurrent for the most part, it was glaringly obvious to the recipients and imprinted in the Will as 'everything that is wrong is our fault.' This became everything the Will has been suffering and struggling with since the beginning.

We made a gap with the Will there by not recognizing Her real role. We pushed Her away from the very beginning and did not give Her Her right place. She needs to recover from this and cannot take Her right place until She does. Until the Will has recovered, the role of the Will cannot be fully understood.

It is only just now beginning to move into healing, yet the gap is more prominent than ever on Earth, and the lovelessness of people on Earth is more apparent than ever. Why is this?

The gap is only barely moving in as of yet. That is why. mildly gapped essence is coming in as of yet. That is why.

Many people who pick up these books and think they are going to read them and follow this path, do not when they feel their own gap. They stop the process as soon as they feel anything they do not like, which is anything that might make them have to take responsibility for anything in Original Cause. Their own Original Cause is not going to reveal itself if they do not accept My light first, and most do not even accept these stories as real yet.

iii → ACCEPT MY LOVING LIGHT

- Fragmentation has become a huge issue on Earth.
- Numb feeling needs correct recognition, to create movement inside first.
- Spirit cannot move anymore with our help, and we cannot move anymore with Spirit's help.

This does not mean you need to pat yourselves on the back for being first and all of the other undercurrent competition issues this might evoke. It means you need to realize what a huge issue fragmentation has become on Earth and that most people don't even feel they have enough presence to move toward healing themselves yet.

This has to heal a little at a time because the gap is more frightening than many people think when they think they can heal in a short time. That is another group of quitters; those who think it is taking too much time and too much feeling bad compared to how much feeling good.

This is imprinting that will become quite obvious to you as you read this book; imprinting that checked out long ago and never checked back to see if there was anything else it needed to know. It thinks numb is feeling good and does not mind not feeling anything. This is not ready to move yet out there until it moves inside with the pieces whose rage fragments these are, and they are legion in number—most people on Earth.

The rest are moving along without knowing it and do not need to read the books because their feelings don't have that much depth to them, and they do not have much responsibility, either. That leaves a rather small group who are frightened that they might have quite a lot of responsibility and have not wanted to take it in the past.

Fear needs to move here you do have major responsibility and you are major pieces of My lost essence that went into the gap. Your whole existence has been lived in the gap without My light there to help you much at all.

This has been a major problem for all of you, and it has become a major problem for Me, too, because I cannot move any more without your help, and you cannot move any more without Mine. It has to balance now. That is all there is left to do, or We cannot live anymore. We tried everything else first because the gap was the last place We wanted to go. Now it is the place We have to go and the only place We can go.

The fear of being crazy has to move out, too, because it is not possible to move past old imprinting without moving the gapped rage and held terror that has kept it in place for so long.

Feelings need movement. Moving them out does not mean getting rid of them anymore. It means moving out old fear patterns and letting another emotional response come in its place.

OLD FEAR PATTERNS

- To approach the Will in a gentle way.
- Blame.
- Few have wanted to go into the Gap, and few have returned once they entered the Gap.
- The Gap has only imprinting to go on.

RAGE

It means moving in rage which was left out, feeling it had no place in Creation, not even fear's place, which was Hell.

It has a terrible feeling of no place to receive it and of pounding on the Will's held terror to make it receive it. The Will will receive this rage, but it needs another approach. It cannot give any more pain and terror to the Will and expect it to open and receive it. That is a way of giving out blame here and not looking at its own responsibility in not approaching the Will in a gentle way to begin with.

GENTLENESS

It thinks it hates gentleness more than anything else in the world as a way to avoid looking at its own responsibility here, but it needs gentleness more than anything else to heal its own feelings of displacement. It cannot both give out what it refuses to accept from others, which is blame, and expect its blame to be received before it is going to let go of blame.

It hasn't considered this, because it has been so sure it is right that it thinks it only needs to get the object of blame to realize its fault, and what? Get another agenda? Not likely, if it really is to blame, knows it and means to be.

It is not to blame. It was a major misunderstanding, but this cannot be realized unless the gap is gone all the way down through, because it does not matter what levels of consciousness realize it if it does not penetrate the gap. This We found out long ago. If consciousness could do it alone, it would have been healed long ago.

Few have wanted to go into the gap, and even fewer have returned once they have gone into it. It is a majorly dangerous place and one I do not recommend advancing on openly. Privately, in secret if necessary, healing must take place this time. If you do not think this is true, you have not been in your gap enough to know whether it is or not and have no business telling My light you know better than I do. This is an old and original position, and imprinting is the cause of it, as it is the cause of everything else that is wrong because the gap has only imprinting to go on. My light was not loving yet there. Feelings weren't accepted as having anything to offer, and so there was no Heart presence.

Does that sound like a place you want to go? I did not think so. Yet feelings are not all good, and the feelings judged against as bad are all in the gap, operating there in a state of denial without love or the light of My consciousness there with them.

THE GAP HAS ONLY IMPRINTING TO GO ON.

- The Gap = no love, no light, only old imprinting from before there was love.
- The Gap hates to be interfered with when putting everything in place and ignores input from others.
- Happening inside first, then happens in outer reality when right time.

GAP = NO LOVE
= OLD IMPRINTS

MAJOR FEEL-ING

That is a gap in itself; to have no love present and no light of My consciousness there, only old imprinting from before there was love. There is a major feeling in this gap that it is right and is going to prove it any time now. This is because, in this original imprinting, We had a major feeling that We were right and would have proved it if We had not been interfered with by Our other parts, which We, at that time, did not recognize as Our other parts and had surprised Us by coming out of nowhere and opposing Us.

This part of the gap has a major military build-up in place to prevent this from happening again, it thinks. It hated being interfered with when it was putting everything in place and has continued to ignore the signs and notices along the way that it needs to consider input from others.

It has gotten very clever in its fragmentation, though, and appears to be receiving input, but it is only talking to itself and does not notice there is anyone else there who has anything of value to offer or that needs to be considered. This is a very dangerous position to be in and one that almost cost My light My life and My existence in any form.

I still have a major problem to turn around on Earth, but it is going to heal. It just needs more time; the very thing you all think you do not have any more of on Earth, yet the earth changes never seem to quite happen.

They are happening. They are happening inside first and will happen very quickly in outer reality when it is the right time. I am not going to make any predictions here about when that is, because you all need to move your held stuff, or it is not going to happen for you the way you want it to, and that is all you need to know.

The rest can be left up to Me. Although that is not a favorite position of yours, it is not possible to have it another way at this time. It is necessary to move rage and terror if you do not trust Me until you can trust Me, because it is not possible to trust Me if you cannot feel that I am loving now.

I have nothing more to say in this introduction, except that I hope you move what you need to move, take responsibility for what you need to and heal the gap you need to heal at your own right speed so that My light can come into the places where it has never been before. I am ready, are you?
